

BATON ROUGE, LOUISIANA

METRO POPULATION
219,573

FUN FACTS!

The city's name translates to "Red Stick," the original boundary separating the Houma and Bayougoula Native American tribes.

The "new" state capitol building is the nation's tallest, rising 34 stories (and 450 feet) above the grounds.

Before Rosa Parks took a stand for integration in Alabama, the Baton Rouge bus boycott of 1953 served as the catalyst for the Civil Rights movement.

